GLOWING is the first album of L I M, coming after Comet EP (2016) and Higher Living EP (2018).

For this project the artist, together with RIVA, his long-time producer and collaborator, is choosing to unfold his journey of discovery around his identity, as well as the collective experience of it. GLOWING is a unique musical experience that holds a multiplicity of feelings from the past two and a half years.

Oscillating between different genres, from house music to fluid, clubbing music, the words in GLOWING offer insight into the feelings at the root of this revealing journey, going from the deepest depths to the most simple manifestations, existing between an infinite spectrum of dynamics.

As a metaphor, GLOWING is about illuminating oneself and others, it's about expression and fearlessness and fierceness, moving one's point of view from one level to another one.

It is also an urgency, the need for a sense of belonging, coming together in the sharing of pain and joy.

Track after track, the artist finds himself and his own sense of community.

Written partly during the toughest times of the pandemic, the album looks to push what is hidden out into daylight.

There is a desire and effort to collectively find a dimension that cannot be reached alone.

There is a deep, shared and collective need for love and for being embraced.

There is a struggle in starting this process, alternating between feeling lost and finding comfort.

And when the world takes away your space and air, it is time to make room for your life and to love yourself again.

The time to look for inner freedom is now, the time for recognizing and facilitating freedom for others is now.

It is about arriving late, but better late than never. But in the end, we have always been here.
